U.S. TROOPS LAND IN LIBERIA

R.A.F. COAST PATROLS

UNITED STATES troops have landed in Liberia, the negro republic on the coast of West Africa on Saturday night, and occupied several points in the country.

Royal Air Force patrols have been established to counter U-boats operating 500 to 600 miles off shore. It is believed that the German Consul-General will soon be asked to leave the Republic, which is about 750 miles from Dakar.

Liberia commands a strategic coast on the sea route from Europe to South Africa. It was established in 1822 as a home for free slaves from the United States. It is about 150 miles deep and has a population of over two and a half millions —all negroes.

A fortnight ago the German Radio said that about twenty ships carrying American troops and war material had arrived on the Gold Coast, and earlier it was stated that American troops had arrived at Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, and at Brazzaville, French Equatorial Africa.

GERMAN COMMENT

German Radio broadcast a French report that the number of American troops now in Liberia was about one division, 10,000 to 18,000. It described the "American assault" on Liberia as in line with the "other acts of violence by Britain and the United States against small countries such as Iceland, Persia and Iraq," adding: "Liberia will in future act under pressure from American bayonets."—(Reuter.)

NO FIGHT IN DAKAR

The French Government has issued a denial of the report that an air fight has taken place above Dakar. It states that absolute calm reigns in French West Africa, and that rumours concerning military operations in that colony are false.—(Reuter.)

ROUAULT PICTURE

Referring to the Rouault picture, rejected by the Dublin Municipal Gallery, the Irish correspondent of the Catholic Herald, in this week's issue, says: "Some of us have been mildly distressed to find our judgment set up against that of the editor of this paper (Count Michael de la Bedoyere), who is quoted far and wide as an admirer of Rouault's work. I speak for those who find the representation of the suffering Redeemer in a series of discordant planes of colour distasteful, or at least difficult to understand."

The article quotes the views of a number of people who have already expressed themselves in the Irish Times, and, in addition, gives the views of Mr. Patrick Kavanagh, whom it describes as a well-known writer of the youngest and most vigorous Catholic school. Mr. Kavanagh, the article says, has decided against the picture, but he has "condemned those who rejected it if they confined their objection to this kind of art and made no protest when tradition and harmony were cast aside in secular things."

FIGHT AGAINST CANCER

Lord Horder disclosed in a broadcast last night that science is winning the fight against cancer. "We are now," he said, "so close to the secret of cancer that we can at last hope to hand down to our children the knowledge by which the world may be purged of one of its greatest horrors—the horror of death from a painful and lingering affliction."

CHAINING OF PRISONERS

A suggestion that Turkey should mediate between Britain and Germany on the chaining of prisoners has been made by the Turkish newspapers Aksham and Yeni Sabah, says a Reuter message from Istanbul.

"STRIKE WITHOUT DELAY"

RUSSIAN APPEAL

"Strike Hitler without delay" was the appeal made to the Western nations from Moscow on Saturday night by Mr. Yaroslavsky, an executive member of the Communist Party. "Woe to the Western nations of Europe and other countries if Hitler succeeds in carrying out his plan," he stated. "We must break the enemy's backbone this year. We cannot allow any other end of the war but the complete defeat of Hitler and his gang." He insisted on the need for offensive action on all fronts to help the Soviet armies fighting in the South.

Mr. Nash, New Zealand Minister, speaking in Boston, said:—"However vital the Pacific may be, the prime object of the war must be to strike at the heart of the Axis Powers, and that heart is, undoubtedly, located in Berlin."—(Reuter.)

CZECH REFUGEES' KINSFOLK

INTERNED BY GERMANS

Dr. Karl Frank, German "Secretary of State" for Bohemia and Moravia, announced last night that close relatives of "Czech agitators, who have taken refuge in London," have been placed under guard and interned in concentration camps.

The announcement was quoted by Vichy Radio, which said that Dr. Frank also warned the Czech people against "new appeals to insurrection and sabotage now being launched from London."

Dr. Frank was speaking at a ceremony at which the Moldau district of Prague was re-named "Reinhard Heydrich Embankment."

"Our task is to win back Bohemia and Moravia, mentally and spiritually, from the Reich and her philosophers," he said, according to the German Press Agency. "These provinces have at present only one duty—to harness and exploit to the utmost the rich manpower and economic forces of their country to secure victory for the Reich. The life and deeds of Heydrich should be an admonition for the Czechs to take heed and mend their ways.

"How the Czechs behave now will decide their fate. There can be no question of Czech demands, but merely of expiation by dutiful work.

"The blood guiltiness which burdens the whole Czech people is so vast that it can only be expiated when Heydrich's political testament has been executed. If we have dealt severely with the Czech educated classes it is because 90 per cent. of the enemies of the Reich here—those who pass on the whispering propaganda so popular here, those who helped the murderers of Heydrich—belong to these classes."—(Reuter.)

The possibility of "heavy and menacing" German air raids on British towns was stressed by Mr. Churchill in a message read by Mr. Herbert Morrison, British Home Secretary, at a Civil Defence display at Wembley Stadium, Middlesex, yesterday.

THE I.L.O. CARRIES ON

WORK IN MONTREAL

MR. R. J. P. MORTISHED, Chief of the Maritime Section of the International Labour Office, has arrived in Dublin from the organisation's headquarters in Montreal, and is spending a short holiday with his family, who live at Mount Merrion.

Yesterday, in an interview with an Irish Times reporter, he described how, in spite of war difficulties, the I.L.O. is carrying on its function of studying labour conditions in all countries in the world, and trying to bring about their improvement. Though the headquarters of the organisation has been moved from Geneva to Montreal, it still collects information about labour conditions in all European countries—Axis, Allied and neutral—and its publications have still a large sale in the chief European countries, including Germany.

QUICK MOVE

Mr. Mortished has been connected with the I.L.O. since 1924, when he first went to Geneva as an Irish Labour delegate. But he did not join the permanent staff until 1930. When, after a year of war, it was decided to move the office to Montreal he was sent to act as advance agent. At that time the Geneva staff of the I.L.O. was about 450, representing about 40 different nationalities and possessing equipment which included a library of half-a-million volumes. It was Mr. Mortished who had to arrange in Montreal for the accommodation of as much of the staff and their effects as it was possible to move. In the end it was decided to take only a staff of 45, which, however, represented 22 nationalities, and only the more important of their large collection of files and documents. The Geneva office closed at the end of August, 1940. Mr. Mortished arrived in Lisbon on September 4th, and two days later had opened up business in Montreal.

The great gain which the I.L.O. had made by its removal to Canada, Mr. Mortished said, was that it had brought about a great increase in the interest in the work of the organisation in all parts of America, but especially in the United States. It was only in 1934 that the United States had joined the I.L.O., and even at the outbreak of the war its work was very little known.

Mr. Mortished is giving the Bolton Waller memorial lecture at the Engineers' Hall, Dawson street, tonight, and at the Maritime Institute on Wednesday night. Later he is to lecture in Cork for the U.C.C. Extension Lecture Committee.

WEAPONS FOR TRAINED MEN

They were now approaching a stage when they would be able to put a weapon of one kind or another into the hands of every trained man who is capable of using it, the Minister for Defence, Mr. Oscar Traynor, told members of the Arklow L.D.F. when he inspected them yesterday. But, he warned them, the men must be trained; for otherwise they would be merely a menace. Action by untrained and unorganised groups of people, no matter how courageous, was the danger which the Army authorities feared most. If they were not prepared they would find themselves in the position of being unable to do the slightest thing in the defence of their country, their families, and everything they held dear.

Describing the national emergency organisations as "the greatest and most far-reaching event that has occurred in this country for many years," he appealed to the young men in the area to follow the example of their companions and uphold the Wicklow tradition by joining the L.D.F.

LOCAL FIRE FIGHTERS

An interesting fire-fighting display was given on Saturday afternoon by members of the newly-formed group of Local Fire Parties, comprised of residents of Cherryfield avenue, Ranelagh. The display gave the public an opportunity of witnessing the proper method of dealing with an incendiary bomb on the ground with a stirrup pump team; on a roof, by throwing it on to the ground and smothering it with sandbags; and the way to rescue a man from the top storey of a dwelling-house by means of a rope. The organisation of the group was carried out by Mr. C. N. Partridge, of 36 Cherryfield avenue, and Mr. D. Killalea.

FIRE MENACES U.S. CITY

FREDERIKSBURG (Virginia), Sunday.—The explosion of four large storage tanks fired thousands of gallons of petrol to-day and threatened sections of this historic city, the water supply to which was cut off two days ago by river floods. Families have been evacuated from 50 homes near the fires. Three tanks, ranging in capacity from 80,000 to more than 110,000 gallons, caught fire last night. Another caught fire to-night. Firemen from seven towns are standing by to prevent further destruction.—Reuter.

VOTES COUNTED ON SUNDAY

The black-out was the cause of the Sunday counting of votes of the Clayton (Manchester) by-election, which showed no change, Labour holding the seat. The figures were: Ald. Harry Thornycroft (Labour), 8,892; Major Hammond Foot (Ind.), 636. Majority 8,256. Major Foot forfeited his deposit.

'STALINGRAD'S MOST CRITICAL HOUR'

GERMAN DRIVE FOR THE VOLGA CONTINUES

REUTER'S Moscow correspondent, cabling last night, said that Stalingrad faces its most critical hour since the battle began, over two months ago.

The Germans, says "Red Star," are continuing attacks in the Northern area, where they have penetrated the defences. "Fierce fighting continues in the district of the workers' settlement, where, with their great numerical superiority, the Germans are trying to widen the gap at all costs."

Marshal Timoshenko's relief forces from the North-West of Stalingrad have captured a height, but are meeting with stiffer resistance, the Germans having reinforced their screen between the Don and the Volga.

In the Caucasus neither side claims any new advance, but heavy fighting is going on, particularly in the Mozdok area.

MOSCOW, Sunday. — Reuter's Correspondent says that the latest Soviet communiqués show that the Russians are holding fast in the vital factory belt in Northern Stalingrad, where savage fighting is still going on. The Germans launched ten repeated mass attacks in the last twenty-four hours, but were beaten off. On one sector numerically superior enemy forces drove a wedge into the Soviet lines, but the Russians swiftly counter-attacked, and not only re-established their position but improved it. In twenty-five days, across a narrow, snake-like structure over the Volga, seven Soviet rifle battalions with all their equipment have entered Stalingrad, and about 28,000 Stalingrad citizens, as well as the wounded, have been evacuated across it. Over this floating bridge too, a regular flow of munitions and food is reaching the city.

Moscow Radio said to-night:—"The decisive stage of the battle for Stalingrad has now begun. Although the situation in the city has worsened, the Germans have not scored any decisive success." Describing the fighting in Stalingrad, the radio said that the German Command was throwing more and more fresh troops into the battle straight from the march. "To-day one sector was attacked by a division which had arrived at the front. Four times the Germans attacked, and large forces of tanks and aircraft were flung in to support them. The Russians refused to retreat, and even slightly improved their positions. The Germans lost about 400 men in dead alone.

GERMAN CLAIMS

Vichy Radio, quoting Stockholm reports, said to-day that Stalingrad is now "almost entirely in German hands."

"Stalingrad's fate rests in the hands of the Soviet troops surrounded in the 'Red October' factory," it stated. "It is difficult to imagine that their resistance can continue indefinitely, in view of the unequal forces, even taking into account the possibility of the Russians receiving reinforcements from across the Volga. It is estimated that the coming week will decide the fate of the city."—(Reuter.)

A German source said that "one of the two Soviet groups encircled north of the former tractor works has been wiped out, while the second group—still putting up a fight along the banks of the Volga—is caught in an incessant cross-fire from a German battery. In the 'Red Barricade' ordinance factory resistance is stiffening." This source also stated that the Russians, using artificial fog, have succeeded in landing reinforcements on the west bank of the Volga, despite German air bombardment.

IN THE CAUCASUS

LONDON, Sunday.—To-day's German communiqué said:—"On the Novorossisk-Tuapse front attacks by German and Allied troops against the deeply-staggered enemy positions are making progress, and 60 fortified positions were taken yesterday. South of the Terek, a counter-attack on the enemy, who was making an attack on our positions, threw him back beyond his initial positions with heavy losses."

SOVIET COMMUNIQUE

MOSCOW, Sunday. — To-night's Soviet communiqué said:—"During October 18 our troops fought the enemy in the areas of Stalingrad and Mozdok. No changes took place on the other fronts. During the week ending October 17 130 German aircraft were destroyed. Our losses during the same period were forty-nine aircraft. In the area of Stalingrad our troops are repelling enemy infantry and tank attacks. Enemy infantry, supported by tanks and aircraft, repeatedly attacked our positions, but met with stout resistance. Twenty-eight tanks, eight guns, eight mortar batteries, and eight lorries were destroyed, and about three battalions of enemy infantry annihilated. In the area of one of the factories in the course of the day one unit repelled enemy attacks, disabling or burning out 17 German tanks and wiping out about 1,000 German officers and men.

"North-west of Stalingrad fighting of local importance took place. Enemy attacks were repulsed, and 300 Germans were killed.

"In the Mozdok area several attacks were repelled with considerable losses to the enemy, and 600 enemy officers and men were killed."—(Reuter.)

"South-east of Novorossisk the enemy, after sanguinary fighting, broke through to a highway. Our troops are offering stubborn resistance and are dealing counter-blows. A group of Soviet tommy gunners penetrated into enemy positions, destroying ten strong points and wiping out about 100 enemy troops."—(Reuter.)

JAPANESE LOSE TWO DESTROYERS

AIR BATTLES IN THE SOLOMONS

WASHINGTON, Sunday. — Seventeen Japanese 'planes have been shot down in the Solomon Islands, says a Navy Department communiqué, and two destroyers have been sunk off the Aleutian Islands.

The Japanese are massing troops and equipment apparently for a strong assault against the American-held airfield on Guadalcanal.

A communiqué on the North Pacific—issued simultaneously by the Navy Department — reported that Army bombers put two Japanese destroyers out of action with bomb hits to the north-west of Kiska, in the Aleutian Islands. When last seen both ships were burning and being abandoned.

Headquarters of the U.S. Alaska Defence Command announced that the Japanese are reinforcing their garrison at Kiska and building new installations on the south side of the island at Gertrude Cove.

JAPANESE ATTACKS

The Navy Department communiqué reads:—"South Pacific—The Japanese are continuing to bomb our airfield and shore positions on Guadalcanal Island, and it is believed enemy troops and equipment are being disposed for a strong assault against our airfield. There have been no reports of enemy landings on Guadalcanal since October 15, but heavy concentrations of enemy ships are still reported in the Buin-Shortland area. On October 16 Army fortresses and Navy and Marine Corp aircraft repeatedly attacked enemy troops and equipment which had been assembled in force on the north-west end of Guadalcanal.

"On October 17 about 14 heavy bombers, escorted by eight fighters, attacked our airfield and shore positions. United States fighters and anti-aircraft batteries reported the destruction of all the bombers and two of the fighters. Another group of about 15 enemy bombers and a number of fighters carried out a second raid on our positions. One enemy bomber is reported probably destroyed and one U.S. 'plane was lost during the raids."

DESTROYERS SUNK

The communiqué dealing with the North Pacific reads:—"On October 16 Army bombers carried out low altitude attacks on two Japanese destroyers to the north-west of Kiska. The attacks lasted about 45 minutes, and resulted in five hits on one of the destroyers and four hits on the other. Heavy explosions and fires resulted, and when last seen both ships were stopped and burning, and their crews were abandoning ship. One of our 'planes was lost."—(Reuter.)

ALLIED ADVANCE IN NEW GUINEA

MANY BASES BOMBED

LONDON, Sunday.—Reuter's correspondent cabled to-night that the Allied forces in the Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea have advanced two miles, during which there was heavy mortar fire, and captured Templeton's Crossing.

To-day's communiqué states:—"Owen Stanley area—Under increasing pressure by our ground forces, the enemy has withdrawn from his defensive positions at Templeton's Crossing. Buka — Allied medium bombers carried out a night attack on the enemy aerodrome. Heavy damage is believed to have been inflicted. All our aircraft returned. Buin—A formation of Allied heavy bombers raided the aerodrome at night, hitting the runway and dispersal areas, and starting fires. All our 'planes returned. An Allied heavy bomber formation attacked Rabaul before dawn, and 15 tons of bombs were dropped on the target areas."—(Reuter.)

HOT MEALS FOR 12,000 CHILDREN

Twelve thousand of Dublin's necessitous school children are to be provided with hot meals if the latest scheme to alleviate distress succeeds, and it is generally believed that there is no reason why it should not become immediately operative. It is only a matter of providing the cost and the necessary transport.

The latest move was made after the decision of Mr. MacEntee, Minister for Local Government and Public Health, not to release the municipal kitchens. The gesture comes from Goodwill Kitchens, and a reporter learns that the St. John Ambulance Brigade also is interested. A deputation waited on the Labour Group in the Corporation during the week-end, when the matter was discussed fully.

Meanwhile Miss Chevenix, T.C., has convened a special meeting of the School Meals Committee of the Corporation. The City Manager will then be approached with a view to providing the necessary transport to take the meals to the schools. As the cost per meal is only about 4d. there is every likelihood that this cost will be defrayed and that the scheme will be in operation shortly. It is hoped that child welfare workers in Dublin generally will lend a helping hand.

OH, THE LUXURY OF Twilfit LINGERIE

There is something exquisitely feminine about Twilfit lingerie—the styling, the tailoring, the finish of every detail—lingerie of quality that wears and washes perfectly. Shimmering satin or luxurious silk, plain, or printed in shades of ivory, azure, peach, rose, apple. The pyjama suit illustrated is made from spun silk trimmed with Ecru lace—just one example of the Twilfit selection—at the best shops.

WHY GERMANY IS AT WAR

DR. GOEBBELS' ADDRESS

LONDON, Sunday. — Dr. Goebbels, speaking in Munich to-day, said that in this war "not merely ideals, throne and altar are at stake, but our right to live and our chances of existence. We will never have a more favourable opportunity than that which we have to-day.

"We want to change the standard of living of our people by this war. In the past we fought for sham aims. This time we fight for more important things, for coal, iron, petrol, and, above all, for wheat, our daily bread.

"The successes of our offensives in the past month have proved the great striking power of the German armed forces. To-day we control the Dnieper and the Don, and—once Stalingrad is completely in our hands, though it will take heavy fighting—we shall also control the Volga.

When the thrust in the Caucasus has been carried through at the appointed time, the richest oil district in Europe will be in our hands. He who has wheat, coal and iron, and, in addition, the strongest army, will win the war. When the British say the Reich has now gone over to the defensive, it is nonsense. We may be partly digesting what we have swallowed, but this process of digestion will come to an end."

"Formerly we were people without space. Now we have to knock into shape the space conquered by our soldiers. We are no longer the Power blockaded—we are the Power which blockades.

SECOND FRONT

"How desperate the position has become for our enemies is shown by the Kremlin's urge for a second front. Some time ago I warned Britain not to make the attempt. But the British took no heed, and their Dieppe action was a debacle. The British are not in a position to open a second front, if only because they have not the necessary shipping space.

"Though Churchill has often enough announced that the U-boat danger has lost its sting, we are able to announce sinkings of enemy ships, so to speak, on a conveyor belt. The month of September, which, according to Churchill, was the most favourable so far, was one during which our U-boats sank more than one million tons.

"Our enemies try terror raids on Germany. These, it is true, can inflict painful damage on us, but it is childish to believe they can decisively hit German war potential. People ask why we do not carry out reprisal raids. The answer is that a large proportion of our bombers are more urgently needed at Stalingrad and in the Caucasus. It is more important to pursue the attack in the Caucasus, to block up the Volga and to fight in Egypt than to do the British the favour of splitting our forces."—(Reuter.)

RAILWAY L.D.F.

These men were to be complimented for their readiness to serve their country by giving up so much of their spare time, and he hoped that, although they were not yet up to full strength, other railwaymen would soon join and make up the deficiency, said Mr. E. C. Bredin, General Manager Great Southern Railways, when he inspected the Railway Section of the 44th Battalion of the Local Defence Force at Kingsbridge Station on Saturday.

Major J. P. Gallagher, South Dublin Area Commander L.D.F., who accompanied Mr. Bredin, also paid a tribute to the men's work, and said that as well as maintaining the vital transport of the country, they were also prepared to defend that transport. Platoon-Leader Fred Goodman replied on behalf of the section.

Among those who witnessed the inspection were:—Commandant W. Kelly, O.C., 44th Battalion L.D.F.; Lieutenant E. O'Hanrahan, Training Officer. 44th Battalion; R. J. Kearney, Executive Officer; A. S. Barron, Battalion Adjutant; E. Stott, Battalion Quartermaster, and C.-Q.M.S. S. O'Keeffe.

DESERT AIR RAIDS

CAIRO, Sunday.—To-day's Middle East joint British war communiqué states:—"There is nothing to report from our land forces. Bad weather yesterday prevented air operations over the battle area. Long range fighters attacked eastbound enemy transport vehicles on the road between Sidi Barrani and Sollum. The enemy continued his attacks against Malta on Friday night and throughout yesterday. Hostile bombers were accompanied by increased fighter escorts. Eight enemy aircraft were shot down by our fighters. Anti-aircraft fire damaged others. From the above and other operations three of our aircraft are missing, the pilot of one being safe, but injured."

To-day's Italian communiqué said: "In Egypt sandstorms again hindered land and air activity. A group of heavily armoured units attempted to raid our rear lines. The enemy was put to flight. Pursued by our Air Force the enemy was machine-gunned and dispersed. Military objectives at Malta were violently bombed. In air battles Italian fighters destroyed a Hurricane, and German fighters destroyed 11 Spitfires."—(Reuter.)

BOMBS FOUND IN BELFAST

Early yesterday morning the police discovered 25 Mills bombs in a sandbag in some waste land at Velsheda Park, Belfast. Searches had taken place in the district, and evidently some person had decided that it was advisable to get rid of the bombs.

RETAILERS PUZZLED BY SOAP ORDER

THE use of fat from the shark and dog fish obtainable off the Irish coasts for the manufacture of a soap substitute is at present being examined, an Irish Times reporter learned on Saturday.

The fats as well as a wax obtained from holly leaves could be used as "soap fillers" to supplement the soap ration. Both, however, require factory processes impossible to imitate in the home. The wax from holly leaves can be extracted and pulled up along with soap, and, although the result is not "100 per cent.," the cleansing properties are only slightly impaired, and by lessening the lathering value the soap lasts longer.

SELLERS' CLAIMS

Criticism of the soap-rationing Order was made by retailers on Saturday. They claimed (1) that the 6-oz. ration is not a multiple of any of the recognised soap packs; (2) that in the case of several soap products it was not made clear whether or not they came under the Order; (3) that the Order was rushed on the trade without warning, so that shop assistants coming on duty on Saturday morning did not know how to operate it, and (4) that the Government should have consulted with the soap manufacturers first, and arranged for the production of "utility soap," with a standard pack and price within the terms of the Order.

"We do not know where we stand," Mr. G. D. Findlater, managing director of Messrs. Alex. Findlater and Co., Ltd., told the Irish Times. For instance, he said, as only soap powder was mentioned, were they to assume that soap-flakes were free? What were retailers to do who stocked toilet soap of no particular weight? Some soaps were packed in 16-oz. tablets, he explained, and these could not be cut, as soap is in a molten state when made, and loses weight as it dries. The "16-oz." tablet, therefore, may weigh only 15¼ ozs., and if two 6-oz. lots are cut from this, it leaves the awkward amount of 3¼ ozs. over.

OTHER DIFFICULTIES

Soap was usually cut with wire, continued Mr. Findlater, a rather "hit or miss" method when one was directed by the Department of Supplies to deal so precisely in ounces. The usual cutting was 3lb. bars, cut 40 to the cwt., so that three forties gave you 120 lbs. As there were only 112 lbs. in a cwt., you had an odd 8 lbs. over.

Another complication was that the weight did not appear on either tablets, bars, or packets of powder or flakes. The Order excluded "abrasive or scouring soap," but who was to say exactly what kind of soaps that term included? Finally, the question arose: what was to be done in the case of, say, hospitals, who had run out of soap on Saturday morning? Were they to stay unhygienically dirty until the Department of Supplies made up its mind about all these matters?

NIGHT FLYING

During this month units of the Air Corps will be engaged in routine night flying practice.

The present practice will begin on October 19, and people living in the North County Dublin area need not be perturbed by aerial activity between the hours of 7 p.m. and 11 p.m.

Later in the month searchlight detachments will be co-operating in the exercises, which will be between the same hours, but in the Kildare-Curragh area.

Local night flying in the Baldonnel area will continue as usual.

FUEL TRANSPORT PLAN

TURF LORRY TRAILERS

Trailers for turf lorries may be the solution to the fuel transport plan. It has been suggested that in view of the drastic cuts in the supplies of petrol allowed to Dublin city people who have turf banks rented in County Dublin and on the borders of County Wicklow, a system of turf trailers should be adopted, whereby a large turf lorry could haul after it a similar turf lorry. Although the first lorry would in this way use a great deal more petrol than normally, it would use considerably less than the aggregate total of the amounts of petrol used if both the lorries travelled under their own power. It is estimated that the amount of extra petrol used by the first lorry would be between one-half and one-third of its normal amount. By reducing the running speed of the car to something in the neighbourhood of 15 m.p.h., much of the extra wear and tear on tyres, spares, etc., could be saved.

Suitable trailers could be adapted for this work from any old cars or lorries that happen to be laid up on account of the petrol shortage, and the fact that a second driver is needed for the towed lorry should dispose with any objection which the trade unions might raise.

A member of a well-known firm of Dublin commercial motor engineers stated yesterday that he thought the scheme had great possibilities. Naturally, he said, the combination of two cars uses more petrol than a single vehicle would use, but, he added, a great deal less than two vehicles under their own power would use. The chief difficulty, he felt, would be to find the right speed.

Thirty million man hours at least are already being saved every year as a result of the steps begun three months ago to weed out red tape in U.S. industry.—(Reuter.)

WAR'S HEAVIEST DAYLIGHT RAID

LANCASTERS ATTACK LE CREUSOT WORKS

THE great armament works at Le Creusot, France, were subjected to the heaviest daylight bombing raid of the war when British Lancasters visited them at dusk on Saturday last.

The bombers, numbering 94, were unescorted, and all but one of them returned.

"In daylight on Saturday, at about 6 p.m., a large force of Lancaster bombers, unescorted, attacked the great armament works at Le Creusot, in Occupied France," said a British Air Ministry communiqué yesterday. "This factory, which is the largest and most important of all the armament factories of the International Schneider Cartel, has been making heavy guns and other important war materials for the enemy.

"The attack was concentrated into less than half an hour, and was pressed home with great determination. From preliminary reports, it is clear that the operation was highly successful.

"One aircraft is missing."

A later Air Ministry communiqué stated:—"Fuller reports of the raid by Lancaster aircraft of Bomber Command on the Schneider armament works at Le Creusot are now available. The first squadron over the target was led by Wing-Commander L. C. Slee, and all the bombing was completed in seven minutes. In that time a great weight of bombs was dropped on the factory, many fires broke out, and shortly after the attack a large explosion occurred.

"One formation bombed an electrical transformer station near Le Creusot, which supplied power to the Schneider works. The only aircraft missing of the total force of ninety-four engaged in the whole operation was lost in this attack.

"One Lancaster, which was attacked by three Arado floatplanes, shot down two of them into the sea."

MANY KILLED IN 'PLANE CRASH

FOURTEEN civilians, including women and children, a number of ex-Service men coming from trains, and the crew were killed when a Royal Air Force 'plane crashed in the English Home Counties yesterday.

The 'plane, coming in to land, undershot an aerodrome and crashed near a station, bursting into flames. The casualties were among people coming from the trains, and included a number of servicemen. Three women and three children are believed to be among the victims. One woman and her 18 months old baby died in hospital from extensive burns.

A witness said:—"The 'plane was apparently coming down to land, and undershot the landing ground and crashed on a piece of waste ground. The 'plane un-ended on its nose and burst into flames. I believe those killed included three women and three children. It was not realised until a moment before the crash that the 'plane would not reach the landing ground. Men and women scattered wildly, but they had not time to get out of the way."

"BONA FIDE" TRADE

TOURIST ASPECT

Submitting that reasonable facilities for the sale and consumption of excisable beverages must be available if Irish resorts are to attract visitors from overseas or to induce Irish people to spend their holidays at home, a deputation from the Irish Tourist Association has urged the Minister for Justice to amend his Intoxicating Liquor Bill. The Minister has promised to consider the amendments which they suggested when the next stage of the bill is taken in the Dail.

The deputation proposed that holders of on-licences in holiday resorts (to be scheduled and approved by the Minister) should be allowed to keep their premises open from 10 a.m. to midnight on ordinary week days, from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturdays, and, to bona fide travellers, between 1 p.m. and 6.30 p.m., and 8.30 p.m. and 11 p.m. on Sundays.

If the sale of drink on Sundays is to be permitted only to bona fide travellers, the Association suggests that this shall include anyone who is spending a holiday at any of the approved resorts.

A further amendment aims at allowing a hotel or restaurant to serve intoxicating liquor with a meal on Christmas Day, and special facilities are advocated for 'bus travellers, who, the Association urge, should have privileges comparable with those enjoyed by railway passengers.

"PERFECT TIMING"

The Air Ministry News Service stated that "it was the Bomber Command's heaviest daylight raid of the war." "Crews of the Lancasters," it added, "were instructed to complete the attack in the shortest possible time, but they were not allowed to bomb in formation." Such a concerted attack, therefore, entailed perfect timing on the part of each crew. The whole raid was over in about twenty minutes.

"Le Creusot is not a place which has any conspicuous landmarks to guide the navigator. It is a small congested town. An attack by night, unless made in exceptionally favourable weather, would have inflicted great losses on the French civilian population."

WORLD'S FASTEST

The Lancaster, writes a Press Association air correspondent, is the world's fastest and most powerful heavy bomber. It weighs 30 tons, and can carry eight tons of bombs to anywhere in occupied territory from the North of Norway down to Athens. Its maximum range is 3,000 miles, and, loaded, it can travel at 300 miles per hour, while its ten guns make it one of the most formidably armed bombers ever to be used. The fact that unescorted Lancasters can carry out such an operation as Saturday's has completely upset the lessons of the Battle of Britain. Saturday's expedition from take-off to landing could not have occupied much more than three hours.

FRENCH REPORT

"The French civil population were cruelly tried. Casualties so far total 40 killed and 80 severely injured in the raid," said yesterday's Vichy News Agency. "Two members of the German Army were slightly injured. Numerous workmen's houses were destroyed. One British machine was brought down."—(Reuter.)

According to unofficial sources, says a later Vichy telegram, 80 people were killed and 200 wounded at Le Creusot.—(Associated Press.)

YESTERDAY'S RAIDS

"In the course of offensive patrols over Northern France to-day, Spitfires of Fighter Command attacked railway engines and anti-aircraft gun posts," said last night's British Air communiqué. "One enemy bomber was shot down off the French coast this morning. None of our aircraft is missing."

Yesterday morning a single raiding aircraft dropped bombs at a place near the South-East coast of England. No one was hurt and only slight damage was done.—Press Association.

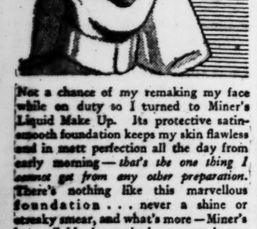
Why I changed TO MINER'S LIQUID MAKE UP



·by a NURSE

Not a chance of my remaking my face while on duty so I turned to Miner's Liquid Make Up. Its protective satin-smooth foundation keeps my skin flawless and in most perfection all the day from early morning — that's the one thing I cannot get from any other preparation. There's nothing like this marvellous foundation . . . never a shine or streaky smear, and what's more — Miner's is available in a shade to match my particular skin-tone. It's the perfect powder base.

Cork Head Shield Table

CORK ..... 2 DRUMCONDRA 0

A GOOD win over Drumcondra at the Mardyke yesterday, in the best match seen there this season, gave Cork United undisputed leadership in the Shield. Their success was fully deserved, and the two goals margin did not flatter them. Pulling out their best form to date, Cork got ahead after twenty minutes, and from that point onwards they never looked like losing their lead. Drumcondra came up against an impregnable defence, which gave them only two real openings in the whole game. In addition, the Dublin forwards, whether through over anxiety or not, bunched together too much, and with their best men, McNamara and Daly, closely marked, the others proved ineffective.

Weakness in midfield, where only McGlynn was in the Cork class, also helped to upset them. Their defence was good, without being brilliant. Cork's defenders, on the other hand, were never better, with Duffy, Hayes and Foley all as keen as mustard. Curtis put in splendid work in tying up McNamara, and the wing halves were equally at home in the offensive and defensive game. Madden was the inspiration of the Cork attack.

After twenty minutes Madden opened the scoring from close in after accepting a pass from McCarthy. Drumcondra missed a good chance when Dyer, with only Foley to beat, shot into goalkeeper's hands. Foley dropped the ball, but just managed to fall on it as Daly rushed up. After the resumption Cork bombarded the Drumcondra net, and after fifteen minutes O'Driscoll centred for Dunne to pass to O'Keeffe, who scored, amidst some appeals for offside. Once again Drumcondra missed a good chance when Ward, from close in, sent over the bar.

DRAW AT DUNDALK

What chance Dundalk had of winning the Shield was thrown away at Oriel Park yesterday, when the side could only draw with Shelbourne. Dundalk were without Milligan, whose transfer was not in order, Leathem, who was ill, and Hearty, also on the sick list, but Gannon came back as right-full; Durkan, of the "B" team, was centre-half, and McArdle played as centre-forward. Crawley and Durkan did well, but the forward line was weak, and, generally, the Shelbourne defence had the upper hand. Shelbourne, who played as selected, were not strong in attack, and Kennedy was the only forward to shine. Kinsella was a fine full, and Fallon the pick of the half-backs.

Dundalk's second goal, scored by Barlowe, was disputed by Shelbourne, as Lavery appeared off-side. The referee, Mr. Larkin, who disqualified Jack Dwyer (who missed his train), allowed the score, but later refused a score to Dundalk when McDonald shot through and the Dundalk players claimed a goal.

Harvey opened the scoring for Dundalk after ten minutes, and then came Barlowe's goal after 25 minutes. Mulally reduced the lead and just before the interval Kennedy equalised.

ROVERS REVERSE CUP RESULT

ROVERS..... 3 ST. JAMES'S G. 2

At Milltown yesterday Shamrock Rovers reversed the Leinster Senior Cup semi-final result of Wednesday by defeating St. James's Gate 3-2, the winning goal being scored by Cregg, their inside left, a few minutes from time. There were many "thrills" and "narrow escapes"; but, on the whole, the game, while fast and vigorous, was rather patchy. The excitement set in before it had been five minutes in progress. In a scramble in the Rovers' goal there was a clear case of double handball, and Palmer just failed to stop Matthew's shot. Fifteen minutes later Coad gave Noonan the slip, and Murtagh came out too late. So they stood at the interval, up to which the Rovers set the pace hot. Again the Gate were ahead inside five minutes of the second half in a ruck near the goal-line, and it was Cregg who led up to the equaliser for Rovers, but Westby's drive hit the bottom of the bar before the ball found the net. Then came Cregg's deciding goal.

Rovers were the faster and keener team, but the Gate's passing was more spectacular, and their shooting much more direct. If Westby, Coad and Cregg had turned their chances to account, Rovers would not have had to fight so hard for their well-merited victory.

BRAY OUTCLASSED

BRIDEVILLE ..... 3 BRAY 1

In a poor game at Harold's Cross yesterday, Bray Unknowns, who started a man short, were outclassed. Brideville took things easily, and could have won more readily than the score suggests. Brideville were a goal up in three minutes, when Byrne scored. Seven minutes after the interval the same player got his second, and missed an easy chance of a hat-trick before J. Murphy got Bray's goal. Just before the end Smyth got Brideville's third goal.

LIMERICK FELT LOSS OF BUCHANAN

BOHEMIANS... 4 LIMERICK..... 0

For half an hour at Dalymount Park on Saturday the Limerick defence withstood the heavy attacks of Bohemians, but then Buchanan strained a leg muscle and had to be carried to the pavilion. The retirement of Buchanan disorganised the visitors, whose four forwards could not be expected to cope with backs playing as Glennon and Byrne were, and for the last hour Bohemians had it their own way. They, however, had nothing to boast about. Their first goal, scored by Glennon, came from a long free five minutes before the interval, and the fourth, nearing the end, was from a penalty kick, converted by the left full-back. Between these, however, were smartly-taken goals by McGrane and Dunne. Having so much of the play, the Bohemian forwards, especially in the second half, should have scored much oftener; that they did not was a tribute to the goal-keeping of Harrington; the quick keen tackling of the fullbacks, Ahern and Harty; and the soundness of a good half-back line, in which O'Reilly and Kane always were conspicuous.

BYRNE GETS FIVE

Linfield are the first trophy winners in the North, their 4-2 victory over Cliftonville giving them the Gold Cup. Belfast Celtic beat Derry City 5-1 at Celtic Park, Byrne (formerly Limerick) scoring all the Celtic goals. Glentoran beat Distillery 3-1.

PEMBROKE LOSE FIRST POINT

Pembroke Wanderers lost their first point in the Senior League on Saturday, but their defence remains unbeaten after three matches. Neither they nor Three Rock Rovers could score a goal at Serpentine avenue, due less to forward weaknesses than to the soundness of both defences. Russell missed one very easy chance for Rovers early on, and near the end H. Raby shot hard at Cuffe from close in, and the goalkeeper made a great save, but otherwise both sets of backs and backs were in grand form. Wanderers did far more attacking than their opponents, but their forwards were well held.

Y.M.C.A. without Sanderson cannot be classed as a strong side, but they lost at Portrane to a side who played good hockey at a cracking pace. After a scoreless first half, C. D. Colter got the first goal for Y.M.C.A., but in the last twenty minutes their defence cracked under the pace. P. Neville opened the scoring from a penalty bully award against Worrall, and added two more goals quickly. Byrne getting the fourth.

Again owing a lot to their remarkable goalkeeper, Parkinson, St. James's Gate drew 2-2 with Railway Union at Cremlin. Parkinson's anticipation in coming out saved Railway were attacking in the second half was perfect. Murphy opened the scoring for the Gate, and O'Malley equalised; in the second half Donlinson again put the Gate in front but Devlin brought them level with a neat reverse stick shot.

Corinthians weakened by the loss of two or three of their leading players, fought hard against Dublin University at Londonbridge road, but never looked likely to save a point. O. Lush was up to take the rebound of a powerful shot by Lace in the first half, and he added a second goal shortly after the interval. Whiston got one in reply in a Corinthians' raid but McGilligan got Trinity's third after Strong had brought the ball through.

Results—Pembroke Wanderers 0, Three Rock Rovers 0; Portrane 4, Y.M.C.A. 1; St. James's Gate 2, Railway Union 2; Dublin University 3, Corinthians 1.

DUBLIN BEATS MEATH

By PAT'O.

Dublin ..... 2-8 Meath 0-8

Meath sent a smart young side to Croke Park yesterday. After a weak opening, the visitors finished with a flourish, and Dublin backs were hard pressed. Dublin swept away for an easy opening goal when Fitzgerald placed Fletcher to punch to the net. Gilsenan pointed for Meath, but Dublin's midfield and forwards, took control, and O'Connor (2), Fitzgerald (2) and O'Reilly sent Dublin well ahead. Mayo pointed for Meath, but O'Connor added the champions' sixth minor. Half-time:—Dublin 1-6, Meath 0-2.

Walshe's point raised Meath's hopes, but Dublin controlled the midfield, and O'Connor got away for a second goal. Meath rallied, and Halpenny, Gilsenan, Donnelly and Meaghan added Meath points, while Ryan was tested twice in Dublin's goal. Joy and O'Connor had late Dublin points.

Irish Racing Commission.—The first sitting will open at the Shelbourne Hotel, Dublin, to-morrow. Among the evidence to be taken is that of the Bloodstock Breeders' and Horse Owners' Association of Ireland.

SECOND FRONT AGAIN

By Our Military Correspondent.

THE recent German suggestion that the Allies may be contemplating a landing in the Cotentin—suggested this time last year in these notes—serves to bring home the fact that any one of several points might serve the turn of the Allies—always supposing the attempt succeeds. Some points present less difficulties than others—as against which the "others" might offer greater prospects in the way of exploiting success. For the Allies making a choice it is largely a matter of compromise: there can be no perfection. In the present article it is proposed to examine a quite different possibility from the Normandy one.

Under date Stockholm, September 11, we read that the Swedish journal Arbetaren has stated that: "Denmark is one of the occupied countries which lends itself best to the establishment of a second Allied front." Denmark may, or may not, "lend itself" to such an enterprise—but it is quite certain that there is no other territory where a second front would confer an equally important advantage on those establishing it. Moreover, this particular second front would also only need to be "in being"; no far-reaching advance would require to be pushed out from it. And this, of course, would result in a considerable economy with regard to the more ponderous kind of war—supplies to be landed at first.

AERIAL SUPPORT

The obvious difficulty in the particular location is that of possible aerial support—can enough be provided! Manifestly aerial supremacy would be too much to look for, but an advantage sufficient to do the trick is a different proposition. It is in such circumstances that the advantage of the initiative—with the resultant surprise chances—would be most effectively turned to account. If the Allies really possess such a general aerial advantage as is often claimed they should be able to effect a suitable concentration of satisfactory types. It could hardly be advanced that, in a broad, general way, German aircraft are better than Allied. Yet the Germans have usually been able to assemble enough suitable 'planes for any short, specific job—such, for example, as the Cretan invasion or the Scharnhorst-Gneisenau escape from Brest. In such cases the advantage of the first move goes a long way towards being decisive—provided the rest of the arrangements are intelligent and determined.

In this respect it would seem possible to utilise the enormous naval superiority of the Allies. After all, any ship is capable of being employed as an A.-A. platform, and a well-drilled armada should be able to give a reasonable account of itself under most circumstances. In this reference, the recent big convoys forced through to Murmansk and Malta respectively afford a good headline. Most of the goods were delivered, and the intercepting aircraft suffered appreciable losses. The same lesson is also to be learned from the Dieppe raid, where the defending aircraft gave no better than they got. In short, no warlike operation can be successful without careful preparation and a readiness to face risks—provided these last are reasonable.

OLD BELVEDERE THE BEST "SEVEN"

While the Leinster seven-a-side tournament drew a bigger attendance than for some years, very few of the sides were really well equipped for this type of game, and it was almost a certainty after their initial appearances that the final would be contested by Old Belvedere and Dublin University. Belvedere got through without any trouble, beating Trinity in the final by 8 points to 5.

In the final the dominating factors were the failure of the Trinity forwards to get the ball, and K. Quinn's brilliant running, which brought about the positions from which both Belvedere scores were obtained. Belvedere always looked like winners, but Trinity fought back splendidly.

This was Belvedere's second successive win in the competition. They were the best-balanced team, and showed a keen appreciation of the technique required. K. Quinn's speed, swerve and clever opportunism made him outstanding, but all the others played their parts admirably.

S. P. Walsh, H. de Lacey and H. Robinson put in great work for Trinity. de Lacey's defensive play being particularly good. S. Barnes and W. J. Moynan were good forwards, but had not the knack of getting the ball back.

SECOND ROUND.

SEMI-FINAL.

Old Belvedere, 13 (K. Quinn, B. Quinn and Henry, tries, Thorpe, 2 converts), Wanderers, 3 (allowances); Dublin Univ., 8 (Robinson, 2 tries, McIntyre, 1 convert), Lansdowne, 3 (allowance).

FINAL.

GOLF BALL PROBLEM

Mr. Alan Kidd, Hon. Secretary of the G.U.I., responding to the toast of the Union at the Clontarf captain's (Mr. T. P. Smith) dinner on Saturday night, added little to what appeared early in the week in the Irish Times regarding the black market in golf balls. The manufacture of balls had ceased, until after the war, in America, England and Eire, and golfers would have to carry on on existing supplies. Unfortunately, however, large quantities of new and secondhand balls were in the black market. The committee intended to seek an interview with the Minister for Supplies, and to see if it would not be possible to fix prices for new and old balls. If they succeeded in that the situation would be eased somewhat.

Mr. T. Cullen proposed the toast of the captain; Mr. R. Rice gave the "Golfing Union of Ireland," and Alderman Byrne replied for "Our Guests."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Timber-Feller Killed.—Robert Walsh (36), Clogga Mooncoin, died from multiple injuries to the skull, received when he was felling timber on the Curraghmore estate, Co. Waterford, during the week-end.

L.S.F. Presentation.—At a special Group Parade of the L.S.F. held in Mountjoy Garda Barracks, a presentation of a wallet of notes was made to the Group Leader, Mr. T. Clare, on the occasion of his retirement.

Ambulance Driver Exonerated.—A verdict of accidental death, and that the driver of the ambulance involved be exonerated from blame, was returned at the inquest in Omagh on Gerald Dunlop, Gortanigan, Omagh, farm labourer, who died from injuries received while cycling in a road collision on the 20th inst.

Tea Overcharge Fine.—William J. Toner (50), Rosemount, Booterstown, was fined £5 by District Justice Lennon, Dublin, last Saturday, for having sold half a pound of tea for 10/-. The Profiteering Act was applied in two charges against him of having obtained money by false pretences, he having repaid the money.

Chartered Surveyors.—The Executive Committee of the Chartered Surveyors' Institution, Eire branch, has passed a resolution of sympathy on the death of Mr. Harry Franks, who was a Fellow of the Institution since 1895, a member of the Executive Committee and branch representative on the Council of the Institution for many years. The Committee gave its final approval to the applications of 39 candidates entered for the Institution's 1943 examinations.

Importance of the Language.—Organised by Craobh na h-Aiséirighe, a public procession of National organisations, followed by a public meeting, was held in Cork on Saturday in honour of the centenary of Thomas Davis. The speakers included Messrs. F. O Murchadha, who presided; R. Breachnach, M.A.; S. O Seaghdha, Macroom, representing the G.A.A., and G. O Conneaghain, and all stressed the importance of the national language.

TURKEY CENSUS

Steps are expected to be taken within the next few weeks to give Britain some idea of the numbers of turkeys available for export from Eire this year.

Britain, it is learned, is looking forward eagerly to receiving large supplies of birds from Eire this year, being well satisfied with the arrangements put into practice last year, by which an equitable distribution of imported turkeys was brought about.

PERSISTENT DEMAND FOR IRISH SECURITIES

LAST week markets on the Dublin Stock Exchange presented an active appearance, and there was a strong and persistent demand for all classes of Irish securities. Less interest was taken in Government Funds, as investors are inclined to look elsewhere to invest their money owing to the small yields obtainable in this group. The general tendency is to buy Equities rather than gilt-edged issues. Dividends and reports recently published have shown that the majority of companies are still able to trade on a profitable basis, despite the prevailing difficulties! Investors seem prepared to ignore immediate prospects, and are locking their holdings away till after the war.

Home Rails are still the centre of attraction, and prices continue to rise steadily. Both the leading concerns are carrying bigger traffics than for many years past, and although it is generally believed that expenditure will be higher, the opinion is that the results for the year will be extremely good. In the case of the Great Northern, a few optimists are looking for a 5 per cent. dividend on the Ordinary stock. If this should materialise, the Preference would look cheap at the present price of 48¼. Great Southern Guaranteed is moving steadily upwards on hopes that the arrears of dividends will be paid off this year.

Owing to the difficulties of transport, motor use is being made of the canal system, as it is ideal for carrying turf, timber, etc. Under the circumstances, the outlook for the Grand Canal Company is viewed in

MAXIMUM RETAIL PRICES OF TURF OUTSIDE SCHEDULED AREA.

Owing to the recent inclusion in the Scheduled Turf Area of the urban district of Dungarvan and the rural districts of Dungarvan, Clonmel No. 2, Lismore (including the towns of Lismore and Cappoquin) and Youghal No. 2 the Minister for Supplies has found it necessary to revoke the existing Order controlling the retail prices of turf in the area to which the present Price Order applies and to substitute a new Order (Emergency Powers (Control of Prices) (No. 162) Order, 1942).

No change takes place in the retail price of turf, which remains at 64/- per ton (with the provision for the sale of turf at 3d. per dozen sods in quantities not exceeding four stones), but the area to which the Order applies is modified by the exclusion of the districts mentioned.

Advantage has been taken in the making of this Order to provide for the automatic alteration of the area to which its provisions apply whenever the Scheduled Turf Area is varied in future.

Copies of the Order will be on sale shortly.

The Far East

One of the most important battles of the war has been taking place in, over and around the Solomon Islands during the past two months. Early in August the Americans initiated an attempt to recapture the islands, or some of them, from the Japanese, and since that time they have made steady, though slow and difficult, progress. The offensive was entirely on the American side until last week, when it became known that Japanese forces were being landed in considerable number on the island of Guadalcanal, even with the intention of retaking an aerodrome in the north, which during the entire operations has been of extreme value to the Americans. All arms are employed on both sides. Two major engagements have been fought on sea—one in August, as part of the initial American assault, and the other last week, clearly as prelude to the Japanese counter-offensive. Most of the losses in the earlier engagement were sustained by the Americans, to whom, by way of compensation, the honours seem to have fallen in last week's encounter. It is clear, however, that the decisive battle remains to be fought—and is likely to be fought in the very near future, if, indeed, it is not taking place at this moment. The land troops are said to have come to grips on Guadalcanal, while pitiless raids are being conducted by the aircraft of both sides. Furthermore, a powerful Japanese fleet has been reported in the vicinity of Shortland Island, to the north-east; and it looks very much as if the American naval strength in the Solomons theatre must be out-numbered very substantially. Perhaps, there is an American fleet, headed by battleships, within easy distance; but the tone of the latest despatches from Washington is less confident than it has been during the two months of battle. The fear of a set-back in the Solomons is not entirely counter-balanced, in American eyes, by the good news from New Guinea, where there seems to be a strong possibility that Allied troops will contrive to clear the island of its Japanese invaders. Evidently the Japanese thrust of a month ago, when advanced columns crossed the Owen Stanley range and reached to thirty miles of Port Moresby, was a flash in the pan. Both their forces and their communications were inadequate to the job, and they have been compelled to re-cross the mountains, with Allied soldiers on their trail.

Liberia

The news that American troops have landed in Liberia, on the West Coast of Africa, has surprised nobody. For some time past rumour has been busy regarding American intentions in that part of the world. Mysterious transport ships were alleged to have been sighted off Dakar, off the mouth of the Congo, and some other places, and it was fairly evident that the United States Government intended to establish some kind of pied à terre on the African Continent. It appears now that on Saturday evening about a division of United States troops, numbering between fifteen and eighteen thousand men landed near Monrovia, and that a series of Royal Air Force bases have been, or are being, established by the British. No more appropriate spot could have been chosen by the Government of the United States; for Liberia owes its independent existence to the American Republic. It was founded as a kind of home for liberated slaves one hundred and twenty years ago; its constitution is modelled closely on that of the United States and English is the official language of the little Republic. Liberia has a population of less than three million, most of whom are direct descendants of the original slaves who came from the United States. During the last war its Government eventually joined the Allies, and was one of the many signatories of the Treaty of Versailles. Politically, its influence is negligible; but its territory has much strategic value, especially at present, occupying an important position between Sierra Leone on the one side, and the French Ivory Coast, on the other. Since the intensification of the U-boat campaign in the Northern Atlantic and the virtual closing of the Mediterranean to Allied shipping, except for the most essential services, British and American shipping has been making more and more use of the route round the Cape of Good Hope. The "Axis" Powers have not been slow to extend their area of offensive operations, and their submarines have been increasingly active of late off the West African coast. The British already have an air base at Bathurst, in Gambia, from which Sunderlands and other ocean-flying aircraft help to protect Allied convoys; but evidently another shore base was needed, and the Allies decided to establish it in Liberia rather than make an assault upon Dakar, which is 750 miles away. In anticipation of such a move, all the German residents of Liberia were evacuated by air some weeks ago. Only the Consul-General and his wife remained in Monrovia, and it seems that arrangements will be made to send them home as soon as possible. The American occupation of the negro republic is historic, inasmuch as it represents the first establishment of a military base by the Government of the United States in the old world. There are American troops in Great Britain; but they are under the general jurisdiction of the British Government, whereas those in Liberia are responsible only to Washington. It is not clear whether they have occupied Liberia at the invitation of the negro republic, or have taken possession of the territory as a war measure, such, for instance, as the British occupation of Syria and Madagascar. It is quite certain, however, that the occupation is purely temporary. The Government of the United States created Liberia as an independent republic; it will not be likely to violate its independence for a period longer than it finds to be absolutely necessary.

"A Good Time"

Every evening men in Dublin leave cosy firesides, charming wives, amusing books and pleasant radio programmes to pursue the chimera called "a good time." Half-an-hour later they may be found in gloomy public-houses, sharing the company of morose and silent figures and contemplating with as much aversion as appetite the cold contents of small or large glasses. If they are lucky in their locality they may have fancy murals and chromium chairs to relieve the gloom. If their good fortune is exceptional they may meet a companion whose conversation sparkles with quip and epigram. If they really are thirsty the beverages in their glasses may prove even tasty. Most of them, however, will be both bored and cold, wondering why they should have left the enticements of their homes. There may be men who have charged forth with the hope that a good time lay on the inside of the hostelry's doors, and actually have found what they were seeking, but it is difficult to find records of these things. W. W. Jacobs writes of bargemen and coaster captains approaching with a sense of anticipation the joys of the quayside inn, with its red blinds, blazing fire, plump barmaid and laughing customers. Authors by the score, by the hundred, have written of the charm of the English country bar, of village ancients with their beards in mugs of beer, of thrilling games of darts or quoits, and of hearty, if rural, conversation. Even the public-houses of the Irish metropolis have had a place in literature, with intellectual exchanges in the centre of the proscenium, and such devices as fires, and such rude pastimes as flirting with the barmaid, very much up-stage. In Dublin, unfortunately, the "good time" usually is associated with the consumption of more than sufficient strong drink. To-day, of course, with coal, gas and electricity scarce, with the worst of the war news serving for conversation, and with drink by no means what it used to be, it is difficult to extract much diversion from the interior of a public-house—the exterior, naturally, is even worse. Usually, however, the spark of intellect eventually begins to glow, a little warmth steals into the bones, and the tongue acquires a taste for the liquids available. Almost simultaneously, the publican's curate announces, "Time, gentlemen, please!"

THE Dean of Westminster, the Right Rev. Bishop Paul de Labilliere, is staying with the Warden of St. Columba's College and Mrs. Sowby, at the College. Later in the week he will be the guest of the Dean of Christ Church and Mrs. Lewis-Crosby at The Grange, Stillorgan, Co. Dublin.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH

A recital of organ and vocal music will be given in the Church of St. Stephen to-morrow evening at 7.45 by Mr. F. C. J. Swanton, F.R.C.O., and Mr. William F. Watt, the well-known tenor. The organ programme will include Best's fine, though rarely heard, arrangement of the Bach Chaconne, as well as the same composer's Prelude and Fugue in C minor, and some choral preludes. To mark the seventieth birthday of Vaughan Williams, some of that composer's work will be submitted, as well as pieces by Sullivan, Parry, Stanford and Tschaikovsky. Mr. Watt will be heard in selections from Handel and Mendelssohn. The recital will conclude at 9.20. The collection is for the relief of the poor.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"THE TAILOR AND ANSTEY"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The banning of "The Tailor and Anstey" must not be regarded as an isolated case. It merely illustrates, once again, that the literary censorship is being improperly worked, and would, indeed, appear to be unworkable.

Apart from the weaknesses of the Act as it stands, no Act is proof against the incapacity or carelessness of those who administer it. In this Act the safeguarding section commands the censors to take note (among many other things) of the general tenor of a book. That is a matter which has been consistently neglected by the Board, and, so far as the public knows, never once in the thirteen years of this Act's existence, has the Minister bothered to insist that this and other such provisions should be applied. The presumption is that it cannot be applied.

If you can give me space I will give one example which the public may test for themselves.

In November, 1936, Dr. Halliday Sutherland, the well-known Catholic apologist, published a book called "The Laws of Life." The publishers were the respected firm of Sheed and Ward. In October, 1941, an Order signed by Mr. Jeremiah Boland announced that this book was "in its general tendency indecent." Unfortunately for the Board and Mr. Boland, the publishers could produce the Permissu Superiorum of the Westminster Diocesan Council. And, I suppose, nobody will suggest that the Westminster Council does not know when a book is "in its general tendency indecent"? The incompetents on the Board thus made public asses of themselves. They made the Minister look silly. They gave a slap in the face to His Eminence Cardinal Hinsley, the Archbishop of Westminster, whose Diocesan Council is told, in effect, that it recommends pornography.

If space were available I could give several other examples, all of which have been placed before the Minister by outraged citizens. They all point to the one conclusion—that the Act is being worked improperly.

Actually, it is quite incapable of being worked properly. If a junior clerk caused one-tenth of the trouble that the five censors have caused us all, the Minister would have sacked him on the spot. But he dare not sack these five addlepates. They are unpaid, and if he thwarts them, or even checks them, they can call his bluff by threatening to resign. And it is notorious that it is most difficult to get anybody to replace them. In short, these men will work only if they are given autocratic power. The result, as we see, is slovenly methods, sheer incompetency, and the Act has become a public abuse. It could not be otherwise.

The banning of the "Tailor and Anstey" is merely one further proof that the Censorship, in its present form, is an embarrassment to the Government and a humiliation to the people.—Yours, etc.,

SEAN O FAOLAIN.

Dublin, October 17th, 1942.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES

SIR,—I was amazed last year when "Land of Spices," by Kate O'Brien, was placed on the list of censored publications. I had added it to the stock of the library here after it had been "passed" by a very prominent Catholic clergyman. Recently the story of the "Tailor and Anstey" was banned. There were two copies of this book in the library stock when the order came. I read the book and loved it. Myself and a priest friend read it aloud, story by story, and enjoyed every rollicking minute of it.

On both these books I got the opinion of a priest. Both were banned by the State. For years we have been laughing at the "poor Protestants" because their Book of Common Prayer was edited by Parliament. We can laugh no more.—Yours, etc.,

FILM NOTES

BY OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

The Maltese Falcon (Adelphi): Despite lavish expenditure and an almost ridiculously meticulous attention to incidental detail, Hollywood productions have, to my mind, always fallen a long way behind French, British and other European films in their achievements in the field of realism. Since Orson Welles made "Citizen Kane," however, some of the more intelligent American film directors have realised that the intelligent and unorthodox use of the camera makes in itself for authenticity. This discovery has been utilised within the past year to give cinema audiences three outstandingly vivid murder mysteries, of which "The Maltese Falcon" is a worthy contemporary of "Hot Spot," and, more recently, "This Gun for Hire." This latest thriller is beautifully photographed and brilliantly directed (by John Huston); one has the illusion throughout of being actually present at the thrilling events portrayed. The acting, also, is of an unusually high standard. As the hard, cynical and unscrupulous detective, Humphrey Bogart surpasses his previous best rôle of "Duke Mantee," in "Petrified Forest." Peter Lorre has never done anything so good as his "Joel Cairo" since he appeared as "the hairless Mexican" in the film version of Somerset Maughan's "Ashenden," and Mary Astor acts perfectly as a woman capable of everything except the truth. Better than these, and the best in the film, is, however, Sydney Greenstreet's portrayal of "the fat man" who hunted the priceless Falcon for 17 years. In the supporting rôles Lee Patrick is good as the detective's "invaluable duckling" secretary, and Elisha Cooke, jun., is also excellent as the not-so-successful gunman who disliked being "ridden."

Pacific Blackout (Theatre Royal), which deals in a thrilling manner with the efforts of fifth columnists to dispose of the inventor of an anti-aircraft range-finding device, during a "blackout" in a Pacific coast city, has as much relation to reality as a schoolboy's adventure story. Nevertheless, it is excellent entertainment. Robert Preston is good as the fugitive inventor, and a newcomer to stardom, Martha O'Driscoll, gives an attractive performance as Mary Jones, the little telephonist, who helps him to escape and clear his name.

A word might be said here, by the way, about the newsreel picture of the recent Irish Army manœuvres, at present showing at this and other Dublin cinemas. It is a poor film, with an uninspired commentary, with all the usual "snatching a little rest with one eye open" clichés. "General Mulkay," the commentator tells us, was among those who saw the manœuvres. Guess who?

Drums of the Congo (Capitol) is a story of "darkest Africa" and rival international agents, whose endeavours to secure a monopoly of supplies of a mineral used in the manufacture of precision tools in armaments are complicated by far from co-operative native tribes. This entertaining little film has some excellent "shots" of African wild life and singing, in the Robeson class, by a coloured actor, Jules Bledsloe, as "Kalu." In support is another film of the Aldrich family, with Henry and his friend, Dizzy Stevens, in trouble again.

The Spoilers (Carlton). One of the strangest and most inexplicable things which Hollywood has ever done is to cast "Blue Angel" Dietrich in Wild West films. As an actress her technique is more appropriate to farces of the bedroom order, and her seductive charms have no place in the great outdoors. They certainly do not add anything to this new version of Rex Beach's famous book about the troubles of Alaskan gold miners. As a picture it is just what you think it is, and if you like that sort of film you will not miss this one.

OTHER CINEMAS.

Gone With the Wind (Savoy): 150,000 Dubliners can't be wrong.

Son of Fury (Regal Rooms): It's that Man again.

The Gold Rush (Metropole): Still drawing crowds after nearly twenty years.

The Fleet's In (Grafton): A recent success.

T.C.D. NOTES

LECTURES IN RUSSIAN

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

NOW that the prolonged period of examinations stretching over the last fortnight is over, the main meeting place in College at the moment is on the steps of Captain Shaw's Office, where the latest results are examined and commented on with an eagerness that might portray rush-hour on the Stock Exchange. Meanwhile the College societies gradually assume their normal activity in preparation for the bustle, the beginning of the Undergraduates Lectures in Arts and Science, which takes place to-day, when Law, Commerce and pre-Medical Lectures also begin.

Most interesting activities around College this week will be connected with the opening meetings of various societies and clubs. On Wednesday next the annual general meeting of the Squash Rackets Club will take place in No. 5 T.C.D. On Friday the annual general meeting of the Dublin University Boat Club will be held at 5.30 p.m., when proposals for officers for the coming year will be considered.

The inaugural meeting of the Fabian Society will take place in the Regent House on Friday, the 30th inst., at 7.30 p.m., when the secretary, B. A. Hoobermann, will read a paper entitled "Science and Socialism." Distinguished speakers at this meeting will include Professor Julian Huxley and Dr. H. Lee Parker, F.R.C.P.I. Dr. O. Sheehy Skeffington will be in the chair. The other speakers will be announced later. It is understood that this opening meeting will herald a new and vigorous programme in relation to the activities of the Fabian Society. If so the scheme has received a more than adequate launching in the form of such an interesting inaugural meeting. For those of us who may not be lucky enough to procure tickets for the opening meeting of the Philosophical Society on the 29th inst. it will provide an opportunity

without Calomel—and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour
The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk, and the world looks punk.
Laxatives help a little, but a mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carters Brand Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and at it." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carters Brand Little Liver Pills. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 1/3 and 3/-.

F. A. CLARKE,
AUCTIONEER, BALLINAMALLARD.

This much maligned person is, in fact, a public benefactor. His task is, of necessity, an unpleasant one. It is to find out who is using up your gas in the "off" hours. He helps to ensure that there is gas to cook your meals and that consumers get their fair share. Don't blame him or hinder him in carrying out his duty. When he does detect those people who use the glimmer he carries out a most useful and essential purpose.
